BE ONE OF THOSE who make the best of life. After all, in the long run the honey of life is for those who seek it, and the advantages for those that strive for them. Do not be numbered among those gloomy people who have nothing to smile about. Remember always that heartiness depends largely apon healthiness. No one can be quite as hearty as he would desire to be if he is not as healthy as he ought to be. Good Health is essential to bright spirits and a bright outlook, and any measures whereby the physical standard can be improved are worthy of careful consideration. These

WHO TAKE

Beecham's Pills are strongly of opinion that no better medicine has been compounded for the relief of the common atiments of the digestive system. It is well known that dyspeptic troubles are the cause of many bodily ills and much depression of spirits. Beecham's Pills, by their tonic and cleansing effects upon the stomach, liver and bowels promote the efficiency and healthy action of those important organs. Hence the great improvement in general health invariably experienced by those who take BEECHAM'S PILLS.

News in Brief

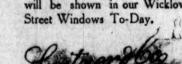

Maize. To-day we are making a colour display of Silks, Blouses, Golf Coats, &c., in tints and shades of Maize, as Maize is the colour keynote for the Season.

Exclusive Hat Models are showing in our French Millinery Salon, as our buyer has just returned from the markets.

Moderately priced Hats. We are showing an extensive selection of moderately priced Hats in our Debutante Millinery Department. Our Autumn-Winter Catalogue will be ready about October 1st, and will be the most interesting we have yet submitted. Some of the new Coat Dresses will be shown in our Wicklow Street Windows To-Day.

Fachion Notes from Paris. Simplicity is the tendency in the new tailor mades and day dresses, but less restraint is shown in the dinner and evening toilettes.

Many of the evening dresses are high necked and practi-cally sleeveless; they are nearly all of net or velvet, or net and satin. The evening dresses are short in frost and quite long (some with trains) at the back. Judging by the diversity of styles shown, each woman may decide the waist line for herself.

SUNDAY DRINKING IN ATHLONE.

FRANCISCAN PRIEST'S DENUNCIATION.

FRANCISCAN PRIEST'S

DENUNCIATION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ATHHONE, MONDAY.

For the second time within a fortnight the Very Rev. Father Fidelis, O.F.M., made excessive Sunday drinking in Athlone, and other social evils, which he said arose out of the drink traffic, the subject of a special address to a crowded congregation. He said that although all the publicans were not guilty of a breach of the Sabbath and of the licensing laws, some of them were so bereft of the fear of God and man as to smuggle out plentiful supplies of drink to all who chanced to stagger against their doors. It was said that the publican must make "a living." Did they mean that because this class of publican could not make a living by legitimate trade they were, Judas-lke, by despising every law, human and divine, to be allowed to trade illegitimately in the souls as well as the money of their unfortunate victims? The ill-conducted public-house was the greatest enemy that Ireland had within its bounds, and he regretted that Athlone was not without them. He blamed the police system of supervision, which allowed the drink traffic to go on unchecked. I happened to see a number of men not bona fide, said Father Fidelis, in various stagges of drunkenness on Sunday imbibing further potations in the publican's back premises. I wont in search of a policeman, and oould find none, although I paradet the principal streets of the town. I then went to the police, and was informed by the guard that they were all out on town duty! I asked to have a man cent to the place indicated, and on an assurance being given to that drunkenness and impurity were allowed to stalk through the streets unchecked? How many prosecutions against they have all out on town duty! I asked to have a man cent to the place indicated, and on an assurance being given to that drunkenness and impurity were allowed to stalk through the streets unchecked? How many prosecutions against they mere the police in the streets? Why did not the magistrates do their duty in such cases as c

Mr. O'Reilly-That is not so.
Alderman Quaid said the report was not so businesslike that they should adopt it, and he moved as an amendment that it should be sent back to the Committee for further information. There was no seconder for the amendment. Alderman M'Carthy hoped the report would be adopted. Mr. O'Donoghue's right, whatever it was, was a great obstruction to the Markets Committee. He believed the purchase would be good business for the Corporation.

On a division there voted for the Committee's recommendation:—Alderman Keogh, Moran, McCarthy, Dinnage, Downes, T. Kelly, O'Connor, A. Byrne, M.P.; O'Neill, Delahunt, Corry, O'Toole, J. J. Kelly. Councillors M. J. Kelly, Nugeni, M.P.; Reigh, Ryan, Meehan, Foley, Moran, Daly, Lord Mayor, Kennedy, Maher, Cummins, O'Hara, Delany, Lang, J. J. Higgins, Cole, Brooks, Vaughan, McAvin, O'Reilly, Swavne, Groome, M. T. Byrne, Fower, Chase, Miss Williams, Dr. Keogh, Scully, Develin, Isaacs, Beattie, Brohoon, Duffy, O'Connor, Rriscoe, Sherlock, J. S. Kelly, Gleeson, O'Doherty, Gately, Fox—55.

Against the motion.—Alderman Quaid and Mr. Coulter—2.

The report was adopted.

The Council then reverted to its ordinary monthly business.

ELECTRICITY UNDERTAKING.

The Electricity Supply Committee sent up a report in which an increase of wages was recommended to the shift engineers and switchboard attendants at Fleet street and Pigeon House Stations.

Mr. Sherlock said it was ridiculous to propose an increase of payment in a department which

The all-important dress of every collection is the straight, one-piece, coat dress. Skirts will be worn about ankle length, and not quite so full as recently. Groups of flat box pleats at sides, front, or back are a feature, more especially in the coat dresses.

Many of the evening dresses are high necked and practically sleeveless; they are nearly all of net or velvet, or net and satin. The evening dresses are short in front and quite long (some with trains) at the back. Judging by the diversity of styles shown, each woman may decide the waist line for herself. "Switzer's " have made extensive purchases from the leading conturiers for their model salon, and also for their debutante department. Many of these garments have already arrived.

FRANCISCAN PRIEST'S DENUNCIATION. (FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DENUNCIATION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ATHLONE, Monday.

For the second time within a fortnight the Very Rev. Father Fidelis, O.F.M., made excessive Sunday drinking in Athlone, and other social evils, which he said arose out of the drink traffic, the subject of a special address to a crowded congregation. He said that although all the publicans were not guilty of a breach of the Sabbath and of the licensing laws, some of them were so bereft of the fear of God and man as to smuggle out pientiful supplies of drink to all who chanced to stagger against their doors. It was said that the publican must make "a living." Did they mean that because this class of publican could not make a living by legitimate trade they were, Judas-like, by despising overy law, human and divine, to be allowed to trade illegitimately in the souls as well as the money of their unfortunate victims? The ill-conducted public-house was the greatest enemy that Ireland had within its bounds, and he regretted that Athlone was not without them. He blamed the police system of supervision, which allowed the drink traffic to go on unchecked. I happened to see a number of men not bona fide, said Father Fidelis, in various stages of drunkenness on Sunday imbibing further potations in the publican's back premises. I went in search of a policeman, and could find none, although I paraded the principal streets of the town. I then went to the police, and was informed by the guard that they were all out on town duty! I asked to have a man sent to the place indicated, and on an assurance being given to that effect, I left. Needless to say I heard no more about it, and no prosecution followed. How was it that the police were not more vigilant in the matter of Sunday drinking—that drunkenness and impurity were allowed to stalk through the streets unchecked? How many prosecutions did they, hear of against those who sold drink on Sundays? How many prosecutions against girls loitering in the streets? Why did not the magistrates do their duty in such cases as ca

RELATIVES TO VISIT INTERNED PRISONERS.

The Lord Kitchener National Memorial Fund hopes to send at an early date the first party of mothers and wives to visit interned British prisoners in Switzerland. Hundreds of letters have been received from applicants throughout the Kingdom. One old lady writes.—"I have six sons serving the King," and pleads that she may be allowed to see her son, who is a prisoner at Murren. Another writes:—"I am most anxious to see my husband, as he was reported killed; so it will be like seeing him back from the grave." The Foreign Office and War Office are giving every assistance, so that there may be no delay in sending out the various parties. The guests will stay in Switzerland for at least one week.

STEVENSON v. NEWMAN.—At Orme and Sons' Saloon, Manchester, yesterday afternoon, Stevenson and Newman entered upon a match of 15,000 up, in which Newman is conceded 800 start. Both professionals are also playing at the conclusion of each session three exhibition games of snooker pool. There was a good attendance of snooker pool. There was a good attendance in the state of 151, which ended at a failure to negotiate a long red loser. In fesnome Newman salved to the century a second time by subscribing 117, while Newman gathered 59, 79, and 80. The later play went in favour of Newman, who teached his necessary points with 123 (upin finished). Interval acores—Newman, 1332; Stevenson 455. At snooker Newman was successful by 61 to 45. The Fields of War.

The British working classes, as a whole As a result of Sunday's fighting north of the Somme the French are now on the pulsory service, which they had so southern outskirts of combles. Between combles and the Somme the new line is capitalism. Without their loyal cooperation the present marvellous conversion of the industrial machine to the uses of war could not have been accomplished. They "side-tracked" the jealously guarded rules of their trade unions, abandoned their holidays, and worked day and night in the munition factories. British troops who advanced to the attack and night in the munition factories British troops who advanced to the attack on their left encountered greater opposition. Guillemont, one of the most strongly fortified of the chain of villages used by the enemy as pivots of his trench lines, was a formidable obstacle which had to be overcome before our line could be advanced. Three such villages formed a sort of screen in front of Combles—Guillemont due west, Ginchy north-west, and Maurepas south-west. The French took Maurepas a week ago. We were still held up at Guillemont, and Ginchy was before us. To have reduced Guillemont and passed five hundred yards beyond it, and to have got a footing in Ginchy as well, was a good day's work. Our French colleagues will not have expected that we should also have made our line even with theirs, by entering the woods which we now face—the Bois de Leuze and the Bois de Bouleaux. These woods form the chief feuture of the German salient between Ginchy and Combles. They not only pre-Ginchy and Combles. They not only present a difficult problem for the next stage of our advance in this sector: they form a shelter in which the enemy can assemble for counter-attacks against our present new line. KING'S SYMPATHY WITH THE SUFFERERS.

The Colonial Office last night issued the following telegrams which have passed between the Administrator of Dominica (Mr. Arthur Mahaffy, son of the Provost of Trinity College, Dublin) and the Colonial Secretary in reference to the hurricane in the West Indies:—
"Regret to inform you that violent storm, August 28th, caused loss of over fifty lives. Damage is serious to crops, roads, bridges. Impossible to estimate cost of repair as yet, but will exceed that of last year. Full report will follow by early mail.

right front, is ours. At one moment Ginchy, the neighbouring village, was also ours, but owing to the strong counter-attacks of the enemy we had to give a prise of £500 to the first airman to bring down a Zoppelin on British soil.

It seems certain that an inquest will have to be held on the remains of the unknown Germans who were killed in the fall of the Zoppelin. Dr. Lovel Drage, the coroner for the district, points out that an inquiest is necessary under the law. Such an inquiry will be interesting, since it may disclose the manner in which the Zoppelin was brought down, though naturally there can be but little known as to its occupants.

The German shipping companies with vessels interned in the South American ports are now getting somewhat anxious about these ships. The number is one siderable, since the tonnage aggregates little over 600,000, and their less would be a very heavy blow to German meccantile interests. It seems that a decidedly anti-German feeling has become noticeable in Brazil, the Argentine, and Chile—three States now busy develoring their merchant shipping. It would, therefore, cause little surprise in shipping circles here if on one pretext or another some of the German vessels were sized. A very strick watch is being kept upon them, for an enormous sum of money is owing for harbour dues and other charges, and, in order to discharge, these debts, it may be announced that it is necessary that some of the vessels would be the losers.

The much discussed clause added by the Senate of the United States to the Revenue Bill authorising the President to prohibit the importation of products from countries maintaining an embargo against United States products is said to be only the beginning of a general scheme of retails.

sterling of gold coin withheld in Germany by private persons. This money is called for, and it is intimated that gold ornaments and trinkets must be remitted to the Bank without delay. Offices for the purchase of gold jewellery will be opened in all the towns, and those who bring gold articles of the value of a few marks will receive an iron medal or watch chain as a reward. The Imparial Bank is supposed to have a reserve of some $125,000,000, but the truth of this claim is doubtful, considering the steady drain on the resources of the Bank since the war began. Paper money would not be of much use to Germany's Allies, or for payments to neutrals, and it is probable that this new effort is to secure s bigger reserve for the obligations that must be met, as well as for supersbundant paper money now in circulation.

The rounding up of men of military age goes on apace, and yesterday saw a new development.

CHAMBERLAIN. ___

FROM "THE TIMES" OF GREAT TO-DAY.

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE CAPTURE OF

THI GUILLEMONT

The capture of Guillemont (says The Times) announced so quietly by Sir Douglas Haig that it has not yet made a great impression in country, but Guillemont means more that destruction of many Zeppelins, a strongly-fortified village near the end of British line. It was the most powerful of verge of Thiepval. Two or three weeks ago the pessimists were wondering whether Guillemont would be taken this year. It has passed into the possession of Sir Douglas Haig so unabrusively that few appear to understand that the fall of Guillemont is the most important event which has happened on the Somme for the last six weeks. The fall of Guillemont, coupled with the recent French capture of the village of Maurepas, should mean that the town of Combles will not long remain in the hands of the Germans. If Thiepval shares the fate of Guillemont, as may soon be expected, the situation immediately north of the Ancre should not long remain stationary.

PAMPERED PRUSSIAN GUARDS.

The Special Correspondent of The Times at the front writes:—The prisoners of the Prussian Guards whom we have taken are inclined to talk, and some of them talk interestingly. One man declares that recently the Kaiser issued a notification to the troops that there would not be another winter of fighting. The action of Rumania, they claim, does not discourage them, because they had expected it all along. Whatever the people of Germany may saffer, or however poorly other troops may be fed, the Guard seems to be not only adequately ationed, but pampered. A private declared that his breakfast this morning included two eggs and a quarter of a pound of butter. But no amount of good treatment could make them speak with anything but horror of this Somme fighting. The situation at Verdun they consider a deadlock.

CLIMAX IN BULGARIA.

The Correspondent of The Time in the Balkans telegraphs from Bukhares:—Telegrams arriving from various quarters describe the satisfaction and enthusiasm with decision of Rumania has been greeted in all the capitals of the Entente Powers. In view of the extremely cautious policy hitherto pursued by the Rumanian Government, its decision may be taken as indicating the conviction that the success of the Entente is now assured, and may be expected to exercise a great moral of the success. success of the Entente is now assured, and may be expected to exercise a great moral effect on the armies and populations of the Central Powers and their allies. In Turkey and Bul-Powers and their alites. In Turkey and Bulgaria the peace parties have long been gaining strength. In Bulgaria great discontent prevails among the masses of the population. This has latterly found expression in various manifestations which have been suppressed manu militari.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The general tone of the Stock markets, says The Times, was firm, and in some directions a can, Consols, and India Stocks adve the steady upward movement in the Rio ex-change caused a further rise in Brazilian Fund-ing. Lobitos Oil Shares were strong, on a re-vival of rumours relating to a change of control, and Textile and Armament Shares again found buyers. At the Mining end of the House, Modderfontein and the leading diamond com-panies' shares were notably firm.

PARIS, Monnar.

The following extracts from the notebook of a German officer of the 127th Regiment of infantry, who was made prisoner during the somme battle (supplied from a semi-official source) show that the Germans not only respect the French artillery, but appreciate at its just value that of their British Allies.

Writing during the bombardment which preceded the attack by the Canadians on Hill 60 lon June 13th, he says:—"The 125th Regiment is close to us. I have learned that a whole squad of the 125th refused to advance any further, preferring to be killed where they were. There will be no need to say what happened to them. It is quite certain that the artillery fire is absolutely frightful, but. I should never have thought that such disobedience was possible, and the rumours which reached the 127th Regiment that the men of the 125th would not go on are now confirmed."

The following was written on arrival at the Somme front, July 30th:—"What one hears here is almost unbelievable. The troops, here had merely a single first line position instead of two or three as we have. Their transport wagons were protected by concrete, but were not able to move. Some had their axles broken and others their wheels. The lesson of the Champagne fight has been wasted on us. That is why there has been such a great loss of transport. Moreover, the whieles carried no arms, with the result that the enemy aviators were to do us an amount of damage from quite a moderate height.

"August 8th.—In order to keep the company together if the bombardment of the wood should be renewed each squad has dug a trench and occupied it. The number of cases of men deserting their posts is increasing enormously. Yesterday one man of our company thought fit to go for a stroll as far as Equancourt. The commander of the garrison stopped him and telephened to the battalion. The regiment is likely to become an object of ridicule.

IMPORTANCE OF THE SOMME ADVANCE.

ASSOCIATION.)

ASSOCIATION.)

The French advance on the Somme yesterday is important, not only with regard to the results achieved, but also as regards the promise it holds. The "push" is, in fact, reaching an exceedingly interesting point. All the fighting of the French north of the Somme, in the neighbourhood of Maurepas, and that of the British at Guillemont, has been simed at the important position of Combles. The eastern approaches to that little town are protected by the very strongly fortified villages of Guillemont and Maurepas, and then by the very strongly fortified villages of Guillemont and Maurepas, and then the based upon Ginchy and Le Forest, The point of junction between the two armies lay halfway between Guillemont and Maurepas. Le Forest and Clery are the last two villages protecting Combles and Mont St. Quentin. The importance of the capture of the Prench from Office Percent in 1870 the Gormans, from Mont St. Quentin, were able to capture the town. Now the French, from Clery, threaten Mont St. Quentin, although much marehy ground separates the two villages. Against the French advance the Germans and this action not the intensity of the artillery fire. THE FIGHTING AT GUILLEMONT.

Last night's casualty lists show the follow-ing losses:—Officers—Dead, 36; wounded and missing, 141. Total—177. Men— Dead, 616; wounded and missing, 3,801. Total—4,417. Describing the fighting at Guillemont, Mr. nilip Gibbs, the correspondent of the Daily elegraph with the British Armies in the Field, Philip Gibbs, the correspondent of the Davy Telegraph with the British Armies in the Field, says—I was in an artillery observation post, from which on ordinary days one may see each shell burst above the ruins of Thiepval, and the ragged trees of its woods and the broken row of apple trees, and a charred stick or two of Mouquet Farm, and beyond. Very clearly, on the ridge, the conical base of the windmill above Pozières. To-day one could see nothing of this—nothing at all but a hurly-burly of smoke, black, rising in columns through white—white floating through and above black and all moving and writhing. That was where our men were fighting. That was all the picture of this struggle—just smoke and mist. Thousands of shells were bursting there, but one could see no separate shell burst. No single human figure dodging death or meeting it. So I stood, and stared, and listened. It was like a world-in conflict. The noise of the guns was tense. The hammer strokes of each explosion met each other stroke and gave an enormous clangour. Dante, looking down into the Inferne, may have seen something like this, and would not have heard such a noise. It was most like the spirit of war of anything I have seen, and I have seen men go forward and fall, and watched their single adventures.

FUNERAL OF THE ZEPPELIN CREW.

The London Duily Express understands that the officers and men of the Zeppelin which was destroyed at Cuffley will be buried with full military honours. It is probable that the bodies will be buried in separate graves in a churchyard in the neighbourhood of Cuffley. Each body will be placed in an oak coffin, which will be covered with the German flag, and carried on a gun earriage. The firing party will be composed of British soldiers, and a British Army chaplain will conduct the Funeral Service. Every British airman who has been killed in action over the German lines has received the honour of a military funeral, and, of course, Great Britain and her Allies accord similar honours to enemy soldiers when opportunity offers.

The British armoured ears had a lively exchaple of the repair of two others. The British armoured ears had a lively exchaple of the release of gas were repulsed with heavy limes in certain sectors. All enemy attacks after the release of gas were repulsed with heavy limes. In the direction of Vladimir Vallymoki, in the region of Onelvov, Kovitinitza, and on the resches of the Upper Sireth, furious fighting continues.

In the direction of Vladimir Vallymoki, in the region of Brzechany our troops forced the passage of the Iseniovka, a western tributory of the Elosation, taking prisoners eight officers and 2,541 men and capturing six machine guns.

In the weeded Carpathians our troops carried a series of heights and made prisoners towards the Hungarian frontier.

Between August 31 and September 3 the number of prisoners are 11 German officers and 1,300 men who surrendered. Twelve guns, 75 machine guns, and seven trench mortars were captured. Caucasian Front.—To the south of the River Ellen our detachments have advanced, while in the Oquot region our offensive continues. We captured 310 Turkish officers and 538 soldiers.

Mr. G. J. Stevens, Special Correspondent of the Press Association and Daily Telegraph, telegraphed from Athens on Sunday:

I have received the following information from my correspondent with the Serbians at Sorovitch, dated Thursday. An intense bombardment has continued all day, though during the night the Bulgarians mounted eight heavy guns on the heights near Gornitzovo, with which, throughout the whole day, they have produced the range of heights held by the Serbians to the north-east of that town. They have produced no effect on the latter. Not-withstanding their repeated and desperate attacks, which have now lasted for six days, the Selugarians have been unable to dislodge the Serbians from the naturally strong positions which they are holding. Owing to their great cases, which at the lowest amount to 10,000 iilled and wounded, the Bulgars' position has become critical, and if the expected reinforcements do not arrive soon they will have to bandon the attack and to fall buck.

During last night the Serbian artillery continued to pour round after round of shell upon the height above Patele village, on the western shore of Lake Ostrovo, where the Bulgarians had three mountain guns. One of these guns was destroyed, and 50 mules killed.

Four days ago the Bulgarian Crown Prince Boris proceeded to the army headquarters before Gornitzovo, where he issued an order hat, owing to the heavy losses that had been mustained, no more infantry attacks should take place, and that further action must be limited to artillery fire. The German field telephone and aviation services, which arrived here two days ago, left again to-day. They went back in the direction of Florina, carrying with them all their apparatus and paraphernalia. In the region east of Fleury the Germans shortly before nine o'clock delivered a very heavy attack on our positions in

GUILLEMONT.

GUILLEMONT.

The capture of Guillemont (says The Times) was announced so quietly by Sir Douglas Haig that it has not yet made a great impression in this country, but Guillemont means more than the destruction of many Zeppelius. Guillemont is a strongly-fortified village near the end of the British line. It was the most powerful of the German positions in the neighbourhood of the Somme. Guillemont and the plateau of Thiepval have been repeatedly described as two hastions which must be taken before a further advance can be initiated. Guillemont is now in our hands, and our forces are on the very verge of Thiepval. Two or three weeks ago the pessimists were wondering whether Guillemont would be taken this year. It has passed into the possession of Sir Douglas Haig so unphrusively that few appear to understand that the fall of Guillemont is the most important even, which has happened on the Somme for the last six weeks. The fall of Guillemont, coupled with the recent French capture of the village of Maurepas, should mean that the town of Combles will not long remain in the hands of the Germans. If Thiepval shares the fate of Guillemont, as may soon be expected, the situation immediately north of the Ancre should not long remain stationary.

PAMPERED PRUSSIAN

GUARDS.

The Special Correspondent of The Times at the front writes:—The prisoners of the Prussian Guards whom we have taken are inclined to talk, and some of them talk interestingly. One man declares that recently the Kaiser issued a notification to the troops that there would not be another winter of fighting. The action of Rumanis, they claim, does not discourage them, because they had expected it all along. Whatever the people of Germany may suffer, or however poorly other troops may be fed, the Guard seems to be not only adequately rationed, but pampered. A private declared that his breakfast this morning included two eggs and a quarter of a pound of butter. But no amount of good treatment could make them speak with anything but horror of this Somme fighting. The situation at Verdun they consider a dead-lock.

GERMAN OFFICIAL.

Yesterday's Berlin communiqués:—
Anglo-French attacks beginning early yesterday morning in the Somme district developed into a battle on a great scale and of great violence.

North of the Somme the battle raged on a front of about thirty kilometres from Beaumont to the Somme. Despite repeated attacks by the enemy of the Ancre, and especially on Thiepvall and north-west of Pozières, our brave troops, under Generals von Stein and Baron Marschall, maintained their positions and recaptured by a rapid counteratack the ground which was temporarily lost at Monquel Farm, north-west of Pozières, and inflicted on the enemy the heaviest losses.

Further east our strong artillery fire held down the enemy in his storming positions. Only at night did the enemy succeed in attacking the Foureaux Wood, but was repulsed.

After an artillery preparation surpassing anything previously experienced a battle began between Ginchy and the Somme, and raged there late into the evening. In their energy is a state of the enemy, who penetrated our completely battered-down first positions. Only at an artillery succeed in attacking the Foureaux Wood, but was repulsed.

Mr. G. J. Stevens, Special Correspondent of the Press Association and Daily Telegraph, telegraphed from Athens on Sunday:

I have received the following information

Further to the south, from Vermandvillers to Chilly, after very violent fighting, our infantry carried for an extent of over four kilometres the whole first including several defence lines very strongly organised.

The whole of the village of Chilly was captured, and we occupied to the last Hill

The village of Vermandvillers, of which we hold a part, was obviously outflanked

AUSTRIAN REPORT.

The New York correspondent of the Daily Chronicle telegraphs that the authorities possess indisputable evidence of an extended secret postal service operating between the United States and Germany for the past four months. Affidavits have been filed implicating Dr. Albert, Germany's Chief Financial Agent, and Herr Schmidtt, the American representative of the Deutsch Banks and the Neumond Company, who were recently black-listed. The latter were intermediaries. Tons of financial, and probably diplomatic, mail passed by means of the service. Seven leading financial houses have been publicly named, including correspondents of London institutions.

CHAMBERLAIN.

BIRMINGHAM, MONDAY.

The forty-eighth annual Trades Union Congress opened in the Town Hall, Birmingham, today, and will be continued throughout the week. Over 700 delegates assembled from 230 societies, representing a membership of 2,850,000.

Mr. Harry Gosling, Amalgamated Society and Watermen, is the President.

A civic reception of the Congress where it assembles for its autumn deliberations is usually confined to an exchange of courtesies, but there was something of a new departure to-day. The Lord Mayor, Alderman Neville Chamberlain, came on to the platform, accompanied by the Lady Mayoress, and made a speech. He held the large audience in close and even wrapt attention for some moments. Mr. Neville Chamberlain's physique and platform siyle are strongly reminiscent of his distinguished father. These characteristics were quite audibly commented on by those of the delegates whose recollections carried them back to old days. But it was the subject matter of the Lord Mayor's address that most impressed the assembled representatives of Labour. Now and sembled representatives of Labour. Now and sembled representatives of Labour. Now and sembled representatives of Labour. Now and once there was heard an opposition note struck by one of the audience.

THE LORD MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

The Lord Mayor began by reminding the Congress that it was nineteen years since its previous meeting in Birmingham, since which date the Midland capital had greatly developed. But the Congress had come back at a time in our history when its deliberations were likely to exercise a more profound effect on the national life than ever before. He welcomed the overseas delegates, and hoped that their close association with the mother country at this time in the field whild render a recurrence of such a catastrophe as this war for ever impossible. The tide had now turned, and the military position of the Allies was such that it was only a question of time for final triumph to crown our arms. There had been some astounding changes in the last two years, and he imagined that some of those changes were not altogether distasteful to members of the Congress. He did not assume that the night's rest of any of them had been disturbed by State control of railways, by the establishment of national factories, and by the restrictions imposed upon many thousands of private industrial concerns, or by the taking over of breweries and distilleries and the State purchase of meat and signs. (Laughter.) He would not be rash mough to prophesy, but, at any rate, these experiments had given data by which they could estimate the difficulties and objections which cornerly were the subject of theoretic argument what would come after the war the THE LORD MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Baron von Schenck appears not to have escaped, but to be in a house in Athens, where he is taking measures to defend himself. The Germans and their friends are highly uneasy, and are keeping indoors.

The news which was current in Athens to day that the Keeper of the Archives of the Anstro-Hungarian Legation had been wounded is untrue. This official, who had been sent to Elemsins, was arrested after an exchange of shots, and brought to Athens, together with two servants of the Austrian Legation, who were accompanying film. It was one of these servants who was wounded. A significant sign of the upopularity of the Germans in Athens, and of their supporters, is that amongst the people not a single voice is reised against their arrest.

GUARD! IFEBUOY SOAP is always on guard against dirt and disease. In the Bath Room, in the Living Room, in Hospital and Public Institution it is always on "Sentry go," and no germ or microbe of disease escapes its watchful vigil. All's well with those who use Lifebuoy Soap.

Wash face and hands with it-Bathe with it-Shampoo with it. The mild carbolic odour you note in Lifebuoy Soap is the sign of its splendid protective qualities.

MORE THAN SOAP, YET COSTS NO MORE.

DEALING WITH MILLIONS.

The following article has been written by a special representative of the Press Association:

The fact that winding-up orders were inde against no fewer than 312 enemy businesses in the United Kingdom, between the date of the saxing of the Act, January 37th, and August 19th, shows that the Board of Trade, the Department specially entrusted with the duty, has not been inactive in the interests of the country.

The multiplicity of organisation and energy connected with the war, it is probable that this important work has quite escaped public notice, but there are some facts which should not be overlooked or under-estimated in their bearing upon the general effort to ensure that in future it shall be made more difficult for the German "dumper" to re-establish his infections in the interests are to be wound up. The only satisfactory alternative to Breast Milk for your Baby is

If you do not feed your Imant at the breast, you can only thoroughly perform your first duty of fully nourishing Baby by adopting Neave's Food. It is laid down by Doctors and all Authorities on Infant Dietary that the only true test of a Baby Food is a comparison with Mother's Milk. Judge then the Merits of Neave's Food by the following testimony from five eminent Doctors of International reputation (names given on application).

"I do not hesitate to endorse the evidence's my colleagues that Neave's Food is a valuable substitute for Mother's Milk."

"As regards the proportion of Besh-forming, Albumhoids and the bone-forming Salts, there exists a perfect uniformity between Neave's Food and Mother's Milk."

"Prox the acalytical comparison of Neave's Infant's Food with . . . Mosber's Milk, it acodoubtedly follows that when prepared for use according to the directions it is almost identically composed, and in especial contains an identical quantity of feeb-forming albuminates (proteids) and bone-forming salty as Mother's Milk."
